Background

The International Republican Institute (IRI) is a nonprofit, nonpartisan, organization dedicated to advancing freedom and democracy worldwide. Since 1983, IRI has worked to develop democratic institutions and ideals, carrying out a variety of international programs to promote freedom, self-government and the rule of law worldwide. IRI provides technical assistance in the areas of political party strengthening, developing civic institutions and open elections, promoting democratic governance and advancing the rule of law.

Since 2007, IRI's Rising Stars Multi-Regional Program, a program designed to identify and train future democratic leaders from closed societies and nascent democracies, has identified and trained more than 200 Rising Stars from countries in Africa, Latin America, Asia, Eurasia and the Middle East. Through trainings, IRI has equipped them with skills and knowledge in subjects that will enhance their ability to govern democratically and effectively in the future. The program is seeking an evaluator to conduct an independent evaluation of a 11-year program focused on strengthening the capacity for democratic governance through its global network of leading pro-democratic activists, practitioners, journalists, and scholars from transitioning spaces.

Statement of Work

The successful bidder will identify and understand the outcome-level results, including unanticipated results and potential impacts of IRI's 10-year program. Additionally, the successful bidder will identify and explore areas where intervention and assistance is still needed to inform future program design and development. The evaluation is intended for IRI's internal use only and will highlight best practices and lessons learned both for future program design across IRI and for the final programmatic report of this project.

- The bidder will propose a clear methodology that addresses all evaluation questions.
- The bidder will utilize both qualitative and quantitative methodologies.

- All qualitative data should be recorded (if permission is granted by the interviewee), transcribed and submitted to IRI, all quantitative data must also be recorded in soft copy and submitted to IRI, per the deliverables schedule.
- The successful bidder will conduct validation session with select IRI staff; agenda for the session should be shared with IRI at least four business days before the session
- The successful bidder shall submit draft and final report of the evaluation. The report must also include feedback from the validation session.

AEA Guiding principles: IRI supports the American Evaluation Association’s “Guiding Principles for Evaluators” and it expects the evaluation team and the evaluator to abide by the Principles as well.

Evaluation and Award Process

1. IRI may contact any Bidder for clarification or additional information, but Bidders are advised that IRI intends to evaluate the offers based on the written proposals, without discussions, and reserves the right to make decisions based solely on the information provided with the initial proposals. IRI may but is not obligated to conduct additional negotiations with the most highly rated Bidders prior to award of a contract, and may at its sole discretion elect to issue contracts to one or more Bidders.
2. Mathematical errors will be corrected in the following manner: If a discrepancy exists between the total price proposed and the total price resulting from multiplying the unit price by the corresponding amounts, then the unit price will prevail and the total price will be corrected. If there is a discrepancy between the numbers written out in words and the amounts in numbers, then the amount expressed in words will prevail. If the Bidder does not accept the correction, the offer will be rejected.
3. IRI may determine that a proposal is unacceptable if the prices proposed are materially unbalanced between line items or sub-line items. Unbalanced pricing exists when, despite an acceptable total evaluated price, the price of one or more contract line items is significantly overstated or understated as indicated by the application of cost or price analysis techniques. A proposal may be rejected if IRI determines that the lack of balance poses an unacceptable risk.
4. IRI will conduct a source selection based as follows:
IRI intends to make an award to the responsible Bidder based on the following evaluation factors:
 - a) Proposed methodology and approach, (including technical capabilities, proposed technical approach, and personnel qualifications) – 40 percent
 - b) Past performance and experience in performing similar projects – 20 percent
 - c) Familiarity with qualitative research and evaluation methods– 10 percent
 - d) Price – 20 percent

IRI intends to evaluate Bidders' proposals in accordance with these factors and make an award to the responsible Bidder whose proposal is most advantageous to the program.

5. If a cost realism analysis is performed, cost realism may be considered in evaluating performance or price.
