Background

The International Republican Institute (IRI) is a nonprofit, nonpartisan, organization dedicated to advancing freedom and democracy worldwide. Since 1983, IRI has worked to develop democratic institutions and ideals, carrying out a variety of international programs to promote freedom, self-government and the rule of law worldwide. IRI provides technical assistance in the areas of political party strengthening, developing civic institutions and open elections, promoting democratic governance and advancing the rule of law.

Since 2003, the International Republican Institute (IRI) has supported the development of Bangladesh's democratic institutions through programs that amplify diverse voices, expand political space and foster accountable relationships.

Bangladesh's current political environment is marked by deep polarization and a stagnant policy process. While these dynamics are not new, they have escalated since the January 2014 election, with violence, hostile rhetoric, and intra-party clashes growing. The Awami League's lopsided victory in December 2018, in which its alliance won 288 out of the 300 seats, was marred by claims of electoral fraud and voter intimidation. Opposition parties continue to claim the outcome was illegitimate. Although the post-election political setting has stabilized—with the BNP seating its MPs in the parliament and agreeing to participate in future elections—Bangladesh's politics are at a stalemate and governance challenges persist. IRI polling suggests the Bangladesh public is dissatisfied with a wide range of political, economic, and social outcomes.

IRI aims to improve political party officials' and MPs' understanding of citizen priorities and concerns and build their capacity to develop policy proposals

Statement of Work

IRI seeks applications from a local Bangladeshi organization to help implement a project that aims to improve political party officials' and MPs' understanding of citizen priorities and concerns and build their capacity to develop policy proposals. The project should include intra-party workshops with established and/or young decisionmakers from the major parties. The workshops should use data from IRI's forthcoming national survey (to be released this fall) to inform a discussion on policy issues in Bangladesh and how to address them. If needed, the workshops can include skills building for party members on interpreting data and developing policies. Ideally, the workshop should include an output, for example, a specific policy proposal or agenda.

Specific services the local partner is expected to deliver will include:

- Organize 4 intra-party workshops, including securing venues, inviting participants, and coordinating local facilitators and speakers.
- In coordination with IRI, develop a workshop agenda that includes IRI survey data and additional exercises as needed
- In coordination with IRI, identify international facilitators or speakers needed for each workshop.
- Complete monitoring and evaluation materials throughout the life of the project, including:
- Issue a final report upon conclusion of project including success stories and lessons learned.

Evaluation and Award Process

1. IRI may contact any Bidder for clarification or additional information, but Bidders are advised that IRI intends to evaluate the offers based on the written proposals, without discussions, and reserves the right to make decisions based solely on the information provided with the initial proposals. IRI may but is not obligated to conduct additional negotiations with the most highly rated Bidders prior to award of a contract, and may at its sole discretion elect to issue contracts to one or more Bidders.
2. Mathematical errors will be corrected in the following manner: If a discrepancy exists between the total price proposed and the total price resulting from multiplying the unit price by the corresponding amounts, then the unit price will prevail and the total price will be corrected. If there is a discrepancy between the numbers written out in words and the amounts in numbers, then the amount expressed in words will prevail. If the Bidder does not accept the correction, the offer will be rejected.
3. IRI may determine that a proposal is unacceptable if the prices proposed are materially unbalanced between line items or sub-line items. Unbalanced pricing exists when, despite an acceptable total evaluated price, the price of one or more contract line items is significantly overstated or understated as indicated by the application of cost or price analysis techniques. A proposal may be rejected if IRI determines that the lack of balance poses an unacceptable risk.
4. IRI will conduct a source selection based as follows:

IRI intends to make an award to the responsible Bidder based on the following evaluation factors:

- a) Technical evaluation, (including technical capabilities, proposed technical approach, and personnel qualifications) – 30 percent
- b) Past performance and experience in performing similar projects – 20 percent
- c) Compliance with security and other administrative requirements – 20 percent
- d) Price – 30 percent

IRI intends to evaluate Bidders' proposals in accordance with these factors and make an award to the responsible Bidder whose proposal is most advantageous to the program.

5. If a cost realism analysis is performed, cost realism may be considered in evaluating performance or price.
