Background

The International Republican Institute (IRI) is a nonprofit, nonpartisan, organization dedicated to advancing freedom and democracy worldwide. Since 1983, IRI has worked to develop democratic institutions and ideals, carrying out a variety of international programs to promote freedom, self-government and the rule of law worldwide. IRI provides technical assistance in the areas of political party strengthening, developing civic institutions and open elections, promoting democratic governance and advancing the rule of law.

To bolster data-driven, coordinated policy responses to kleptocracy and build political will for anti-corruption reforms in target countries, IRI will promote work with activists, journalists, and government officials in target countries to use evidence-based approaches to generate political incentives to achieving Beneficial Ownership Transparency (BOT) reforms.

To address gaps in understanding of BOT of key local stakeholders including political actors, civil society organizations (CSOs), journalists, and activists relating to advocacy, implementation, and monitoring of BOT reforms, IRI is seeking a Contractor to develop an innovative and comprehensive Roadmap to increasing national transparency of beneficial ownership. The Contractor should have advanced experience supporting BOT initiatives globally, in order to provide research and writing services to compile related international case studies, tools, and strategies.

Statement of Work

To address identified gaps in understanding of BOT of key stakeholders including political actors, CSOs, journalists, and activists relating to advocacy, implementation, and monitoring of BOT reforms, the Contractor will develop an innovative and comprehensive Roadmap to increasing national transparency on beneficial ownership. To develop this tool, the Contractor will research, and compile related international case studies, tools, and strategies. The Roadmap should serve as a one-stop shop for anti-corruption reformers, covering the entirety of the BOT cycle, from awareness raising and lobbying to implementation and data-based advocacy, and include major decision points and accompanying case studies. The Roadmap should also look into models of community-based beneficial ownership monitoring and tracking that could be emulated by activists in different countries and promote South to South learning.

Roadmap research will be supported by key informant interviews (KIIs)—led by IRI’s field offices—with political actors and civil society members in Malaysia, Mexico, and Albania, to identify country-specific and potentially common gaps in local actors’ understanding of financial transparency frameworks, registries, and regulations. The Contractor will support KIIs through developing an interview protocol document to be adapted and implemented by IRI in each country-context. The Contractor will work with IRI during the drafting process to develop Roadmap modules to align with the identified gaps in understanding in each country, which may include advocating for BOT reform, using available international and national data and standards for asset tracing, monitoring registry implementation, and improving collection of and access to BO information once registries are in place. Contractor should ensure Roadmap content is presented in an accessible, easy to understand way, accompanied by practical tips on how to turn BOT understanding into action and advocacy.

Deliverables

The Contractor will be responsible for the development of the following deliverables:

Deliverable 1. Works Cited List & Interview Protocol

- i. To begin the research process, the Contractor will develop a comprehensive Works Cited document listing sources that will be drawn on during the BOT Roadmap development.

IRI will provide the Contractor with Interview Protocol examples from past projects. IRI will provide the Contractor with Interview Protocol examples from past projects.

Evaluation and Award Process

1. IRI may contact any Bidder for clarification or additional information, but Bidders are advised that IRI intends to evaluate the offers based on the written proposals, without discussions, and reserves the right to make decisions based solely on the information provided with the initial proposals. IRI may but is not obligated to conduct additional negotiations with the most highly rated Bidders prior to award of a contract, and may at its sole discretion elect to issue contracts to one or more Bidders.

2. Mathematical errors will be corrected in the following manner: If a discrepancy exists between the total price proposed and the total price resulting from multiplying the unit price by the corresponding amounts, then the unit price will prevail and the total price will be corrected. If there is a discrepancy between the numbers written out in words and the amounts in numbers, then the amount expressed in words will prevail. If the Bidder does not accept the correction, the offer will be rejected.
3. IRI may determine that a proposal is unacceptable if the prices proposed are materially unbalanced between line items or sub-line items. Unbalanced pricing exists when, despite an acceptable total evaluated price, the price of one or more contract line items is significantly overstated or understated as indicated by the application of cost or price analysis techniques. A proposal may be rejected if IRI determines that the lack of balance poses an unacceptable risk.
4. IRI will conduct a source selection based as follows:

IRI intends to make an award to the responsible Bidder based on the following evaluation factors:

- a) Technical evaluation, (including technical capabilities, proposed technical approach, and personnel qualifications) – 30 percent
- b) Proven skills in research, writing, and critical analysis, based on examples of previous work–25 percent
- c) Past experience in performing similar projects – 25 percent
- e) Price – 20 percent

IRI intends to evaluate Bidders' proposals in accordance with these factors and make an award to the responsible Bidder whose proposal is most advantageous to the program.

5. If a cost realism analysis is performed, cost realism may be considered in evaluating performance or price.
