Background
The International Republican Institute (IRI) is a nonprofit, nonpartisan, organization dedicated to advancing freedom and democracy worldwide. Since 1983, IRI has worked to develop democratic institutions and ideals, carrying out a variety of international programs to promote freedom, self-government and the rule of law worldwide. IRI provides technical assistance in the areas of political party strengthening, developing civic institutions and open elections, promoting democratic governance and advancing the rule of law.

To foster improved local governance and support democratic consolidation in the Amazon basin, IRI will strengthen coordination between community-level stakeholders and expand their capacity to advocate for policies and action on environmental challenges, such as natural resource management, to subnational and national representatives in select regions of Ecuador and Colombia. IRI will conduct multi-sectoral municipal roundtables to discuss local governance challenges, including those related to the management of the environment, and share information and tools to collectively address these challenges; support collective action campaigns aimed at subnational governments; and host briefings with national-level actors to engage them on issues of importance to subnational stakeholders.

The contractor will conduct a qualitative assessment using pre-post test surveys, questionnaires, and one-on-one interviews with program participants to form a final report with summarized conclusions on the program’s outputs and immediate impact in Colombia. Through this assessment, evaluators will work with IRI to draw conclusions and recommendations for continued environmental governance interventions, as well as future subnational-level collective action programming.

Period of Performance
Date of Signature – November 30, 2024
Statement of Work

The contractor will complete a qualitative assessment of the immediate impact of IRI’s activities in Colombia to improve environmental governance. Relevant information for the assessment will be gathered during and after each IRI-sponsored activity, with all surveys, interview questions, and other assessment instruments developed by the contractor in coordination with IRI and IRI’s relevant contracted partners facilitating each activity. In total, IRI will conduct three activities in Colombia which will be assessed by the contractor:

- One-day municipal roundtables in Florencia, Mocoa, and Leticia
- Subnational collective action campaigns
- A half-day national briefing in Bogotá.

In order to assess the impact of these activities, the contractor will attend the roundtables and the national briefing, expected to be held in February 2024 and summer 2024 respectively. As such, the contractor will plan for, arrange, and pay for their travel to attend these activities and should budget for associated costs in their proposal. IRI will not be providing additional funds to cover the contractor’s travel costs.

The contractor will develop and administer several assessment tools to assess the impact of IRI’s activities in Colombia, to include pre- and post-test questionnaires to measure knowledge gained, one-on-one interviews administered during the roundtables, relevant survey and data metrics from the campaigns (type of data to be determined based on each campaign), and surveys given to stakeholders that attend the national-level briefing to measure changes in motivation. Together, the gathered findings and data will inform a final qualitative assessment with summarized conclusions on the program’s impact and recommendations for future programming.

For the contractor’s assessment of the impact of the roundtables, the contractor will work with IRI’s selected local partner (to be determined) to develop the corresponding evaluation tools. As IRI identifies additional local partners to support the campaigns and the national briefing, the contractor will also work with these partners to develop appropriate evaluative tools.

In order to ensure applicability of findings from the assessment to contexts outside of Colombia, qualitative research questions to be studied under this activity will focus on understanding key technical and thematic approaches related to improving environmental governance and collective action. In consultation with IRI—who will also be coordinating with a contractor in Ecuador to complete a parallel assessment—the contractor will identify key guiding questions for the assessment, which may include the following:

- How do diverse actors identify a common drive to address environmental issues? What is the “tipping point” for collective action against forms of environmental degradation?
- How is collective action on environmental issues different from collective action focused on other governance issues?
- Are there any measures which can be taken to reduce “free rider” issues, which present an obstacle to collective action on shared resources?
Following implemented initiatives, do subnational stakeholders consider their ties to other stakeholder groups strengthened?

Based on activities, do subnational stakeholders feel their recommendations have been fairly represented to subnational government entities?

Are subnational and national government actors more aware of their citizens’ concerns? Will this knowledge impact the efficiency of multilateral communications?

Deliverables Summary:

Note: All data collection documents—pre and post test questionnaires, interview protocols, etc.—should be first created in English for approval by IRI, then translated into Spanish by the Contractor for implementation with program participants. All resulting data—interview transcripts, test answer data, etc.—should be collected in Spanish and then translated into English, with both language versions provided to IRI.

Assessment plan: The contractor should provide an assessment plan that details 1) the research questions the assessment will be answering 2) the methodology (data collection tools, which question will use which method, the sampling plan, etc.) and 3) the assessment timeline.

Multisectoral roundtable evaluation materials: The contractor will attend the multisector roundtables in order to develop guiding research questions and gather information from participants through questionnaires. As such, the contractor will develop and administer evaluation materials, including pre-post test questionnaires of multisector roundtable participants and provide IRI with the data gathered.

- Pre-post test questionnaires of multisector roundtable participants to measure knowledge gained
- Raw results from pre-post test questionnaire.

Evaluation materials will include:

- Relevant survey and data metrics from the campaigns (type of data to be determined based on each campaign).

National briefings evaluation materials: The contractor will produce and administer evaluation materials to assess the impact of national actors' understandings and motivations related to engaging in subnational environmental challenges. Evaluation materials will include:

- Pre-post test questionnaires of national-level decision makers that attended the national-level briefings and raw results.

Interview protocol and questionnaire: The contractor will interview participants from the multisectoral roundtables and other beneficiaries of IRI’s program activities to assess whether subnational stakeholders consider their ties to other stakeholder groups strengthened, whether stakeholders feel their recommendations have been communicated with subnational government entities, and whether subnational government actors are more aware of their citizens’ concerns.

- Interview protocol and questionnaire.
Interview transcripts (approximately 3-5 interviews per multisectoral roundtable, total of 10-15 interviews for all three multisectoral roundtables).

- Draft qualitative assessment report: Contractor will submit one maximum 15 page draft report in English for review and feedback. IRI reserves the right to request revisions to the draft report to be reflected in the final report.

- Final qualitative assessment report: Contractor will produce a final qualitative assessment report, maximum 15 pages. The assessment should be submitted in English as a .doc and a .pdf file. IRI reserves the right to request revisions to the final report.

Evaluation and Award Process

1. IRI may contact any Bidder for clarification or additional information, but Bidders are advised that IRI intends to evaluate the offers based on the written proposals, without discussions, and reserves the right to make decisions based solely on the information provided with the initial proposals. IRI may but is not obligated to conduct additional negotiations with the most highly rated Bidders prior to award of a contract, and may at its sole discretion elect to issue contracts to one or more Bidders.

2. Mathematical errors will be corrected in the following manner: If a discrepancy exists between the total price proposed and the total price resulting from multiplying the unit price by the corresponding amounts, then the unit price will prevail and the total price will be corrected. If there is a discrepancy between the numbers written out in words and the amounts in numbers, then the amount expressed in words will prevail. If the Bidder does not accept the correction, the offer will be rejected.

3. IRI may determine that a proposal is unacceptable if the prices proposed are materially unbalanced between line items or sub-line items. Unbalanced pricing exists when, despite an acceptable total evaluated price, the price of one or more contract line items is significantly overstated or understated as indicated by the application of cost or price analysis techniques. A proposal may be rejected if IRI determines that the lack of balance poses an unacceptable risk.

4. IRI will conduct a source selection based as follows:

IRI intends to make an award to the responsible Bidder based on the following evaluation factors:

   a) Technical evaluation, (including technical capabilities, proposed technical approach, and personnel qualifications) – 30 percent
   b) Proven skills in research, writing, and critical analysis, based on examples of previous work. – 25 percent
   c) Past experience in performing similar projects. – 25 percent
   e) Price – 20 percent

IRI intends to evaluate Bidders’ proposals in accordance with these factors and make an award to the responsible Bidder whose proposal is most advantageous to the program.

5. If a cost realism analysis is performed, cost realism may be considered in evaluating performance or price.
